Vote on New High School Bond Issue

The Crawford AuSable School Board has received permission from the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission to present a bond issue to the voters of Crawford County for the purpose of erecting a new high school building to house grades nine through twelve.

The School Board, at a meeting held Monday night, set the vote date for Tuesday, February 23rd. Voters will have until January 22nd to register for the election.

Plans for the new building, although not yet complete, will be substantially different than the previous proposal.

After several meetings with citizens committees, the Board asked the architectural firm of Vander Meiden, Koteles & Assoc., Inc., to modify the plans to:

(a) Substantially reduce the cost by eliminating some features that, although desirable in a new high school are not absolutely essential, (teacher offices, seminar rooms, swimming pool, conference rooms, etc.)

(b) Change the design to give the building a more conventional appearance.

As soon as the final plans are available they will be presented to the public.

A citizens committee has been formed to promote the construction of the new high school.

Rep. Crampton To Be In Grayling Monday, Jan. 11

State Representative Louis K. Crampton (Republican - Midland) will be at the Crawford County Building in Grayling from 8:00 a.m. till 9:00 a.m. Monday, January 11 for the convenience of any area residents wishing to discuss legislative matters or problems with state agencies.

Crampton will be at the Public Library (next to the High School) in Houghton Lake between 10:00 a.m. and 11:00 a.m. Monday. "Come to the back door," Crampton said.

This is the legislator's first official visit to the area. He plans to give the second Monday morning of each month to bring Lansing a little closer to the folks he represents in the Grayling-Higgins Lake-Houghton Lake area.

No appointment is necessary according to Crampton but pertinent papers and correspondence should be available for reference.

Friends without problems who just want to say "Hi" will also be welcome, Crampton said.

New Coffee House Hours

The Coffee House will open Saturday night, Jan. 9, from 7 to 10:30 p.m. Program this week will be a movie entitled "A Four Letter Word." Admission is 50c. Teens and adults are welcome.

VETERANS NOTE

Richard Langley, Marine Corps Field Service Officer will be in Grayling on Wednesday, Jan. 20, to assist veterans, their dependents, widow and remarried widow, with any claims they might have. There is no charge for this service.

Homestead Tax Exemption

Tax relief will be a reality for many older citizens this year.

The Michigan Commission on Aging reminds all people 65 and older that under Michigan's revised Homestead Tax Exemption law they might now qualify for this exemption.

Applicants, who must file for this exemption each year at their local assessor's office, may apply from Jan. 4 until sometime in March — a date set by each local assessor.

Persons who qualify are exempt from the taxes on the first $2,500 of the valuation of their home. Last year, the average exemption was around $100.

To qualify under the revised Homestead Tax Exemption law which was passed by last year's Legislature, persons must have lived in Michigan for five of the past ten years, and in their home for at least six of the preceding twelve months. Total income from all sources can not exceed $4,000.

RETIRES FROM BEAR ARCHERY — Victor Wesman, Bear Archery tool maker for the past ten years, was honored upon his retirement last week with a dinner party at Bear Mountain Resort. Owen Jeffery, Bear Vice President of Manufacturing, presented him with an engraved watch. Attending besides Mr. and Mrs. Wesman and Mr. and Mrs. Jeffery were Bear Controller Al Beatty and Mrs. Beatty, Personnel Director Bob Galland and Mrs. Galland, and Tool Room Supervisor Homer Gabler and Mrs. Gabler. Wesman and his wife Rose plan on taking it easy and doing some traveling during the year.

Crawford Co. Receives $30,800.32 In Lieu of Taxes from DNR

LANSING — Michigan's Department of Natural Resources is mailing checks for more than $30,800 to 81 counties as payments in lieu of taxes for state forests, parks, and other such state holdings.

The funds, distributed at a flat rate of 20 cents per acre for these conservation properties, largely cover tax-reverted state lands throughout Michigan. A smaller share of the payments are being made for gifted lands above Townline 16 and for purchased parcels throughout Michigan which were bought before 1933.

Crawford County will receive $30,800.32 in lieu of taxes from the DNR.

Eaton and Macomb counties lack tax-reverted state lands within their boundaries and, therefore, are the only Michigan counties that do not receive this money.

Special Coor Speaker Jan. 4

The monthly meeting of the Coor Area Retarded Children's Association will meet January 4, 1971 Monday evening at 8:00 at the Old Gerrish Townhall, Roscommon, Mich. The special speaker for the evening will be Mr. Harry Fauber, from the Division of Vocational Rehabilitation from the Lansing Department of Education.

Mr. Fauber, Rehabilitation Consultant for the mentally retarded will speak on the subject of training and educational aspects of mental retardation. A brief business meeting will conclude the program.

Start the New Year out right by attending this important and informative meeting. Don't forget to invite your friends. Coffee will be served.

Under the revised law, there are no restrictions placed on the value of the property. That is, no matter how much the applicant's property is worth, if he meets the other requirements he should be able to obtain this exemption.

This exemption is an outright grant from the State of Michigan to the local community. There are no lien provisions so no attempt will be made by the State or local government to collect from the heirs or otherwise attach the property.

Cong. Cederberg's Aide Unable To Visit Here

Congressman Elford A. Cederberg regrets to announce again that due to continuing illness his liaison man, Walter Nakkula, will not be at the County Courthouse this month.

Congressman Cederberg stated that any area residents having problems with the Federal government should contact his office in Washington. Correspondence should be addressed to Congressman E. A. Cederberg, 2303 Rayburn House Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20515.

Where Will the New Revenue Come From?

By Sen. John Toeppe

If more money is needed in Michigan next year, where will it come from?

Increased property taxes? No, state government does not get property tax money.

Increased sales taxes? No, a constitutional amendment is required for an increase and cannot be voted on until the 1972 election. Even then, voters would not be expected to approve an increase.

Increased nuisance taxes? Possibly, although that field has been tapped almost to its limit.

Taxes on personal services? Another possibility since this field is one of the few not now tapped.

Increased income taxes? The most frequent guess because it is about the only tax source left for the legislature to use. A one percent increase in the personal income tax might bring $200 million. A similar increase in the corporate income tax and the financial institutions income tax might bring $43 million.

We Michigan residents complain that our taxes are too high. But our per capita state and local tax of $428 a year is far below the $576 that New York residents pay. Other states with higher per capita taxes are: California, $540; Hawaii, $490; Nevada, $455; Massachusetts, $453; and Wisconsin, $439. Four other states and the District of Columbia also levy $400 or more state and local taxes on each resident.

If not more taxes, what? Heavy cutbacks in spending for education, welfare, mental health, public safety and all other services of state government.

Like the cigarette ad of the choice between good grammar or good taste, Michigan residents must decide this question: More services or more taxes?

Council Passes Green Belt Ordinance

One ordinance was passed and one was tabled until sometime in January at the Grayling City Council meeting held last week.

A green belt zoning ordinance, that will protect the natural and wild conditions of the portion of the AuSable River that flows through the city was adopted, and will go into effect Jan. 6, 1971.

The ordinance will control all zoning and development within 200 feet of either bank of the river. It will allow only a 25 foot maximum gap in a minimum 15 foot deep green natural zone on any particular lot. City Manager William Valusek stated.

Permission will have to be obtained from both State Department of Natural Resources and the Crawford-Roscommon Counties Soil District before any kind of land fills can be made, he added.

An ordinance under consideration for adoption was for an office-service amendment to the city zoning code which would permit professional use development in residential areas, met with opposition with a citizens group, and was tabled by the council.

Fire Strikes Twice at Game Club House

A house at the Grayling Game Club, one and one half miles south of Grayling, was hit by two fires on successive nights last week.

According to Fire Chief Robert Golinick, the first blaze occurred about 8 o'clock Wednesday evening, Dec. 30, with three trucks and 15 men answering the call. At 10:15 Thursday evening, Dec. 31 the second fire was reported with three trucks and 11 men from the department fighting the blaze until 2:00 o'clock in the morning.

Chief Golinick said the first fire was believed to have started from electrical wiring, with the second blaze still undetermined. Damage was estimated at approximately $18,000, Golinick said.

The house is owned by James Kelly of Royal Oak, and was not occupied at the time of the two fires. The blazes were discovered by neighbors.

Holidays Spark County Economy

A spot check by the Chamber on January 4th revealed what the Chamber thought, but did not verify until the last of the Holiday crowds went home.

Whether you are in favor of snowmobilers, skiers, or just plain downstate visitors, the following quotations from businessmen, restaurant owners, motel owners, and resort owners tell the story of our economy from December 24th to January 3rd. "Accommodations up," "Business darn good," "Unbelievably busy," "Business up," "Way up," "It was great this year," "We could have used twice as many units," "Records broken," "We never had so much business," "Will never close again during the winter."

With an abundance of state-owned, unfenced land, Crawford County represents a veritable snowmobile paradise. Registrations for these popular machines have soared to a record high in Michigan alone, with our neighboring states also reporting substantial increases. However, besides being popular, snowmobilers are controversial, and battle lines are unfortunately being drawn between snowmobile enthusiasts and the general public. As hundreds of snow machines pour into Crawford County each weekend, the Sheriff's department feels the full brunt of the continuing confrontation.

Among the most common complaints handled by the sheriff's office are noise and private property violations. Increasing numbers of citizens are registering strong complaints regarding late night operations of snowmobilers. In addition, many are seriously questioning the mechanical necessity of the noise produced by snowmobilers, and whether the machines can be manufactured so as to be more quiet. Private property violations are very common, and land owners are reminded that private property should be posted in order to avoid mistakes and confusion.

The past year saw over 200 complaints involving snowmobilers handled by the sheriff's department officers, as well as 10 personal injury accidents. The City of Grayling now has a comprehensive snowmobile ordinance currently in effect. Crawford Co. has a county-wide ordinance pending, soon to be put into operation. Copies and provisions of these ordinances may be obtained from either the city police or at the sheriff's department.

To further serve the public, the sheriff's department is equipped with a radio-dispatched patrol snowmobile with rescue unit. This particular departmental function is handled by the marine division, which stands ready to answer any complaints that might arise. All snowmobile events of any size, such as marathons and races, are patrolled and assisted by the sheriff's department.

Snowmobilers are hereby reminded that Michigan law requires all machines to be registered through the state, with (See Snowmobilers on page 10)

Cigarette smoking parents are being intensified. Parents who wish to help this effort can help most by giving up cigarettes themselves, Pettibone said. All the smoking habit surveys indicate that youngsters whose parents smoke are the ones most likely to take up the habit.

He suggested contacting the local Christmas Seal Agency for information on the health hazards of smoking and tips on quitting.

In the last two years, he said, statistics show us that the percentage of 11-15 year old girls smoking cigarettes rose from 14.4 to 11.9 percent. Among boys at the same age, the figure increased from 14.7 percent to 18.5 percent.

Because another study indicates that a quarter of those who have ever smoked had their first cigarette at age 10, and another quarter at 11 or 12, activities in the elementary schools

Clough-Belcher Speak Vows Dec. 18

St. Mary's Catholic Church was the scene of the wedding of Kathy Ann Clough, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur F. Clough of Grayling and Steven Dwayne Belcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. D. Joseph Belcher of Route 2, Big Rapids. The Rev. Magr. Victor Gallagher officiated at the seven-thirty candelabra Mass on Friday, Dec. 18.

Mrs. Nancy Hoffman played the Wedding March and Mary, Jean and Susan Belcher, sisters of the groom, played Time for Us and There is a Ship on their guitars.

For her wedding, the bride chose a white velvet empire waist, floor length dress with Bishop sleeves and Victorian collar. Wide, white lace accented the collar, bodice and sleeves. She wore a matching mantilla lace chapel length veil and carried a cascade of white roses.

Maid of honor, Patricia Christian, wore emerald green. Bridesmaids were Michele and Cindy Clough, sisters of the bride, Karen Feldhauser and Barbara Marlow. They wore gowns of purple, pomegranate (deep rose), rose and gold, respectively, with empire waists, short puffed sleeves and a loop ruffle at the bottom of the dress with ribbons on the sides and back. They carried goblet shaped candles with complementary colored mums in a cascade arrangement.

The groom's attendants were Mark Hartman, who served as best man, Mark Nelson, cousin of the bride, Rick Rutkowski, Grant Thompson and David Goss.

A reception was held at the American Legion Hall following the ceremony. The wedding cake was made by Mrs. Helen Marlow.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Clough wore a beige short-sleeved dress and coat with silver lace trim. The groom's mother wore a dusty blue suit with blue lace trim on the collar and cuffs.

The bride is a graduate of Grayling High School and attended Kirtland Community College. The groom is also a graduate of Grayling High School as well as Kirtland Community College.

The young couple are making their home at the Pine Knoll Trailer Park.

AuSable Council For Throwing Out Throw-Aways
By Willard Bosserman
County Extension Director

The AuSable River Watershed Study Council Tuesday night at a meeting recommended that county government adopt anti throw-away ordinances similar to the one adopted by Lake County.

They were not really for local counties doing the job but of state action prompted the recommendation. They decided that littering cannot be controlled entirely by education. Laws which make littering less convenient were needed. I reported on the first meeting of the watershed of Michigan steering committee meeting which was held on December 9. Problems of membership arose, the AuSable Council recommended that all river watershed councils be invited to be members of the state organization.

The council discussed some improvements that were needed on the South Branch of the AuSable. Marking and improving stop off places for canoeists might relieve some of the conflict between canoeists and property owners.

Soul-Searching

Someone has said the eyes are the windows of the soul. And when it's our own child — how easy to believe that in those sparkling eyes we have seen and understood an infant soul.

Well, we have seen a mind eager to grow... character ready to be molded.

If in our child's eyes we would see his soul, then one thought should possess us: This is a soul known to God but not yet knowing God.

Soul-searching is always the threshold to spiritual growth. The need we recognize in a baby's eager eyes is a need adult souls never outgrow.

Remember as you plan your family's religious future: God knows each and every human soul. The life He has given us is our opportunity to know Him.

Who Goes to Jail For Child; Mom or Dad?

The sins of the son will be visited upon the father. Which is certainly a switch. But is it constitutional?

Probably not. Eventually there will probably be some father who will balk at paying a $500 fine because his 17-year-old son got caught sucking on a bottle of beer. Dad will enlist the aid of a civil liberties group and take the case to the U. S. Supreme Court which will rule it's unconstitutional to punish Dad for something he didn't do just because he spawned the kid who did it.

But in the meantime, it will be interesting to see what happens in towns which have adopted "parental responsibility" ordinances (it appears Lapeer City Commissioners will adopt one next month).

The idea is to charge the parents with aiding and abetting Junior when he breaks the law. In Lapeer, the most frequent law broken by teen-agers is the one forbidding them to have booze. Last week's Press, for instance, listed 4 "minor in possession" violations. Each youngster was jailed for from 5 to 10 days. Under the new ordinance, their parents could also be jailed. Or they could be fined. The maximum sentence for parents in Lapeer would be $500 fine or 90 days in jail.

"One of our problems is that we have not had the cooperation of parents. They feel little Johnny can do no wrong," said City Manager Arnold Whitney. "If this ordinance is passed, it just might be parents will want to know where their kids are."

"The thrust of this ordinance is to make or encourage parents to keep track of and control their children," said City Attorney Richard Bahls.

Maybe it will work. The ordinance would apply to youngsters 17 and younger. Is it too much to ask parents to be responsible for kids that young? Shouldn't parents always know where their 16-year-old child is, and what he is doing? Parents should care, for a lot of good and noble reasons, such as the ultimate welfare of the youngster. But if it takes a jail sentence to make Mom and Dad care, so be it. Someone else often pays part of the price of the criminal acts committed by a few young hoods. Better it be their parents rather than society as a whole. Especially when their payment may prompt the parents to pull the reins on Junior.

There is one thing: who goes to jail for Junior, Mom or Dad? Our first reaction is to answer Dad, of course. But these are the days of Women's Lib and we want to be fair. Besides, of those four jailed youngsters mentioned earlier, three were girls. Maybe we should say "Julie" instead of "Junior."

City Hall had better decide upon which parent the child's sins should be visited. If it is left for Mom and Dad to decide, the discussion might lead to greater crimes.

Interesting Events In Grayling 23 Years Ago

44 YEARS AGO —

Flames, smoke and heat from an early morning fire on the last day of 1947 totally destroyed Spike's Keg O'Nails here at an estimated damage of $50,000. A blast of fire exploded into the bar room from the attic of the US-27 building at about 1 o'clock in the morning. About three hours later when the flames had finally been beaten into submission only the walls of the 50 by 100 foot structure and part of the interior were left intact. The only thing saved from the structure by MacNeven was his famed "Prairie Pike", a stuffed fish about which a Grayling legend has grown. MacNeven said that as soon as debris can be cleared away he would start construction of a new tavern on the site of the fire-swept building.

All Eligible 18 Year Olds, Mr. Madsen,
As newly registered voters under the recent Supreme Court action permitting persons over 18 to vote, we find it hard to believe we were the first to be registered. Why?

After years of protesting for this right, why has no one bothered to use this "American privilege?"

Please, take five minutes of your time and go to the City Hall and register. If you want the responsibility of an adult, the first step is yours.

1971. You've changed. We've changed.

Change. That's what it's all about this year. And that's what we mean by putting you first.

These are uneasy times.

There are major concerns. About pollution. About safety. About the economy. About your hard-earned dollar. We know.

For the past 10 years Chevrolet research people have questioned thousands of people on every subject from rising taxes to the size of the glovebox in their cars.

We've found that price and maintenance costs, trade-in value and quality have become tremendously important.

Your car has to work. It has to last. And each new model must have more built-in value.

At Chevrolet, we understand. You want meaningful change. And our aim is to give that to you, as you'll see in the 1971 Chevrolets.

Caprice. The biggest, most luxurious Chevrolet ever. A complete change.

Bigness in itself is nothing.

But if it allows you to lengthen the distance between the front and rear wheels (which we did), then you've got something.

You've got a smoother ride.

The idea in the 1971 Caprice was to give you the looks and comfort of a six- or seven-thousand-dollar car, without asking you to pay anywhere near that much for it. And above all, to build in as much dependability and security as possible.

So we changed the body structure for 1971, too. We made it stronger. And we made it quieter by putting a double layer of steel in the roof.

Caprice, as you can see below, is a lot of luxury at a Chevrolet price.

Vega. The littlest Chevy ever. It wasn't changed from anything.

Before building Vega, we read everything we could get our hands on about little cars. We talked to owners. We studied little cars up one side and down the other and, literally, tore them apart. We found out what made them tick, or why they didn't tick.

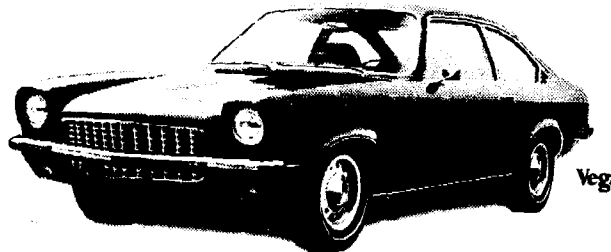

What ticked were gas economy and dependability. What didn't were underpowered engines, cramped quarters and getting blown around in the wind.

In our little Vega, everything ticks. It's not just another little car. You didn't want that. It's one little car that does everything well.

"If It Fitz . . ."

A Mashed Myth?

By Jim Fitzgerald

It would be interesting to invite Len Barnes and Dr. David Klein to the same New Year's Eve party, potluck. Klein could bring booze and Barnes could bring mashed potatoes.

Barnes is that Michigan Auto Club executive who spends 20 hours per day on the radio cautioning you to drive safely to where the snow is good for skiing. Which is similar to warning you to rinse out your mouth with Listerine before drinking poison.

Klein is an MSU professor of social sciences who says it doesn't do any good to tell people to drive safely. You might better arrange to have an ambulance and Dr. Marcus Welby at every busy intersection, he says.

The Auto Club is author of such awe-inspiring slogans as: "Eat 'em Mashed and You Won't Get Smashed" and "First a Friend, Then a Host."

The club concedes that total abstinence behind the wheel is The Impossible Dream. Eight out of every 10 motorists will drive after drinking, no matter how clever the slogans. So holiday hosts are reminded of their "moral responsibility to be sure their guests are able to drive safely."

Serve 'em mashed potatoes and then ladle the booze on like gravy. This keeps the alcohol out of the blood. It will also tend to thin out the crowd around your bar.

When a guest has obviously had enough, slip an Auto Club sleeve over the bottle. The sleeves are free at club offices and liquor stores. Printed on them is a chart that tells how much you can drink safely according to your weight. Sorry, you must weigh yourself before eating the mashed potatoes.

Last year I said the sleeve was unfair to less potted guests. I suggested the Auto Club make a bigger sleeve which could be slipped over the drunk's head, thus leaving the bottle free for more deserving guests. Barnes and the other Auto Club brass ignored me completely. They will probably ignore Prof. Klein, too.

Klein claims it is a "myth" that safe driving campaigns will reduce accidents. He says so in a book called, "Causation, Culpability and Deterrence in Highway Crashes." He wrote the book along with another professor whose half of the job was writing that title.

Klein says no effort aimed at the driver will work. "Human behavior is extremely hard to change and it is much easier to change such things as the design of the automobile or the design of the highway. There's no evidence that you can change a bad driver into a good driver," Prof. Klein says. And he adds that alcoholics drive no matter how badly they're punished short of imprisonment.

Klein says the way to save lives is to forget the safety campaigns and spend the money on better ambulance service, better medical facilities and better roads. Straight highways and roadside medics will save more lives than mashed potatoes.

It's a good debate and I'd love to hear Barnes and Klein go at it. I certainly don't pretend to know who's right. And until the real truth is known, and the appropriate remedies are administered, I shall continue to regard New Year's Eve as Amateur Night. You professional drinkers are well advised to stay home, cut of harm's way.

You won't have to worry about spinning your wheels in a pile of mashed potatoes.

Taxpayers Ask IRS

This column of questions and answers on federal tax matters is provided by the local office of the U.S. Internal Revenue Service and is published as a public service to taxpayers. The column answers questions most frequently asked by taxpayers.

Q) I want to put in for some expenses I forgot to claim on my income tax return last year. How do I do it and when will I get my refund?

A) To make a change in your tax return obtain a copy of Form 1040X from your local IRS office, enter the required information and send it to the IRS service center for your region.

Generally, you can make a change in your return anytime within three years from the date it was due. Interest of 6 percent a year will be added to your refund which you should receive in 3-5 weeks.

Q) I just sold a vacation home I owned. Can I invest the profit I made on it in a trailer and avoid paying taxes?

A) No, you cannot. The tax law provision that permits the postponement of taxes on the gain from the sale of a home applies only to the taxpayer's principal residence. A vacation home is not covered.

Q) I moved here recently when I changed jobs. Can I deduct my living expenses while I'm getting settled in a new place?

A) You may be able to deduct a portion of your living expenses under changes in the law made by the 1989 Tax Reform Act. If you qualify, meals and lodging while occupying temporary quarters at the new job location for up to 30 days after obtaining employment may be deductible. The maximum deduction allowed for these expenses is $1,000.

Linkletter Urges Parents To Learn About Drug Abuse

Art Linkletter looks to the young to turn off on drugs—by themselves.

Speaking at the 78th annual meeting of the National Association of Manufacturers, the famed television star cited some of the more successful programs young people are promoting to fight drug abuse. Mr. Linkletter mentioned volunteer organizations whose teenage counselors give periodic lectures and aid students who need information and help. There should be more such organizations, he says.

Mr. Linkletter's speech before the NAM's membership was entitled "The Role of Business in Drug Control." He urged the industrial leaders to "become the leaders in the fight against drug abuse."

"There is no parent in the United States today of whatever power, wealth, fame, neighborhood, education or religion whose child is not in danger of being tempted to experiment with some kind of drug," he said.

Consumers Want to Know

By MARGARET SPADER
Director of Consumer Affairs
National Association of Manufacturers

Is there some way one can determine if an electrical circuit in the home is overloaded?

Total the wattage of all appliances you use at one time on one circuit, and you can tell if the circuit will be overloaded. Electrical appliances with symbols UL (Underwriters' Laboratories, Inc.) in the United States or CSA (Canadian Standards Association) in Canada are marked with the wattage at which they operate. Allow a margin of 100 to 200 watts rather than loading a circuit to capacity.

Is there much difference in the operating costs of gas or electric appliances?

The expense of operating gas or electric appliances varies from place to place. If both types of energy are available in your area, you should consider the comparative cost of each in your area, the cost of installing each type of appliance, the suitability of your home for the installation of either type of equipment, the type of fuel you use for appliances you now own, and your own personal preference.

Is it really necessary to unplug toasters, can openers, mixers, blenders, etc. before cleaning them?

Water and electricity are dangerous companions: don't risk getting water into any appliance not designed for it. And do not submerge any appliance in a pan of water unless it's labeled "immersible."

Is it a good idea to purchase a "service contract" when you buy a major appliance?

"Service contracts" cover all or part of the costs of servicing for the length of the contract. Prices and benefits vary, so it is a good idea to read the contract very carefully before buying it.

For details on moving expenses, send a post card to your IRS district office and ask for a copy of Publication 521, Tax Information on Moving Expenses. It's free.

Q) My children live with me not with my ex-husband under the terms of our divorce. Does that mean I claim them as dependents?

A) Yes, the general rule covering children of divorced or separated parents is that the parent who has custody for the greater part of the year is entitled to claim the dependency exemption. There are exceptions to this rule, however, depending on the actual terms of the divorce and the amount of support furnished by you and your former husband.

Don't forget about the other dependency tests. They have to be met, too, to claim these exemptions. For more information, send a post card to your IRS district office and ask for a copy of Publication 501, "Your Exemptions and Exemptions for Dependents."

Consumeritis

Columnist Earl Lifehey in Home Furnishings Daily quotes a definition of "consumeritis" as "a contagious inflation of the consumer interest portion of the brain, often resulting from political ambition and desire to derive a favor from groups of consumers. Its symptoms include a strong tendency to invent issues where no real issues exist. If not treated, severe cases may lead to demagoguery."

Elly Peterson, who made it to the top in her chosen profession of politics, is retiring. It's tough to say goodbye to an old friend, but Elly Peterson certainly has earned her plans to retire from her Eaton county home near Charlotte to a less hectic life in Hawaii.

In a capsule, Elly Peterson is quite a gal — and she made it to the top in Republican politics in the United States as an effective political operator, and not as a woman.

Twice she has been selected as assistant chairman of the Republican National Committee, which is the post she is vacating to chase the Hawaiian sunset.

The positions she has held she has earned.

Elly Peterson started in Michigan politics as a volunteer worker in Eaton county Republican politics. Then she moved on to the staff at the Republican State Central Committee as secretary to Lawrence Lindemer, then state Republican chairman, back in the early 1950s.

On her own at the state level for the first time, she was elected as vice chairman of the state republican party, and Republican oldtimers still remember the torrid convention battle in which Elly battled and defeated Mrs. Lois Nair of Wayne county, for the vice chairmanship. This was really a portent of things to come, because Mrs. Nair was the candidate of the right-wing elements in the party at that time, and Mrs. Peterson never felt comfortable with them.

Elly served with several state chairmen, but was not confined to the usual woman politician's role of teas and women's club activities and things of that sort. Instead, she was a political pro in her own right, and — to the credit of Republican leadership in Michigan — her talents were used as such.

In the Romney campaigns, Elly's party leadership and background was invaluable. Finally, she was elected in her own right as state chairman — the first female state chairman in Republican history.

Her first stint as assistant national chairman came in the pre-Goldwater days, when Congressman William E. Miller (remember him?) was national chairman. This last time around, she served with Congressman Rogers C.B. Morton as national chairman.

Elly also took a crack at elected office as the Republican candidate for United States Senator against Sen. Phil Hart in 1964. She lost, heavily, in the same year that Sen. Goldwater was buried in the presidential race.

Her selection as senatorial candidate was one of the only true political drafts I've ever witnessed. It was made at a strategy meeting in early 1964 at the East Lansing home of Gov. Romney, when top staff and statewide strategists were brainstorming the 1964 race against Hart. Mrs. Romney was even mentioned at one point in this session, but finally the mantle of candidacy settled on Mrs. Peterson. She didn't really want to run, but she gave it a game try.

At Elly's farewell party in Washington recently, according to United Press International reports, there were no messages from the White House — which is unfortunate but reflects one of the reasons Elly is not unhappy about retiring at this time.

With all this statewide and national political experience, it is a quirk in history that Elly Peterson never served as a delegate to a state party convention until 1970 when she was selected to represent her beloved Eaton county at the party's Detroit convention.

David S. Broder, respected Washington columnist, paid tribute to Elly Peterson with these comments:

"It is, I think, accurate to say that her abilities would have earned her the national chairmanship, were it not for the unwritten sex barrier both parties have erected around that job. Certainly her organizational talents made her views as respected and her advice as sought-after among her colleagues in the party as anyone in the past decade."

So — farewell, Elly Peterson! Come on back home — anytime!

Policiesholder Questions Answered by the Family Insurance Institute, 222 Park Ave., N. Y., N. Y., 10017

Q: I've been thinking about an endowment or an annuity for life insurance protection. Could you tell me about these forms of insurance?

A: First let's check out the definitions of these terms. An endowment is life insurance, an annuity is not.

With an endowment, if you were to die, your beneficiary would receive the face value of the policy. Just as with any other life insurance, but an endowment is a special type of policy which emphasizes a special benefit for the policyholder in addition to the protection it provides. Say you want to accumulate $10,000 for yourself in 10 years, but you also want a guarantee that your family would receive this sum if you were to die sooner. That's what an endowment does.

An annuity, on the other hand, is designed to provide an income for you as long as you live, and as a consequence is used mostly for retirement purposes. Check with your life insurance agent about the various types of annuities. The one that would pay you the highest income per dollar you put in is the straight life annuity. The income would stop at your death, even though you may not have received back all of your contribution. But there are other kinds of annuities under which you can name a beneficiary to receive the balance of your payments if you should die before receiving that amount yourself as income.

The choice between an endowment or an annuity depends primarily on your financial goals and your age. If retirement is uppermost in your mind, an annuity is certainly worth considering. On the other hand, if you want to accumulate a specific sum for something special, and have it paid to a beneficiary if you did not live to receive it, consider an endowment.

For a quick treat, try B-B-Q Tuna Boats. Combine 1/2 cup ketchup, 2 tablespoons water, 2 tablespoons chopped olives, 2 teaspoons lemon juice, 1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, 1/2 teaspoon dry mustard, and dash of garlic powder. Simmer 5 to 6 minutes to blend flavors. Add 1 can (6 1/2 or 7 ounces) tuna, drained and flaked; heat well. Spoon tuna mixture on each of 4 hot dog rolls, split and toasted.

Creamy cottage cheese is perfect for the weight-watching lunch carrier. Transfer a serving to any handy container, add assorted fruits or vegetables to munch with crackers and milk to complete the menu.

Chill the braising on pork steaks before cooking. Dip steaks in egg-milk and fine dry bread crumbs mixture, they chill for one-half to one hour so the coating sticks to the steak.

Fun and Friendship

These were the keynotes at the annual Senior Citizens Christmas Party, sponsored by the Grayling Women's Club, and held in their newly decorated club room December 15-1970. Much renewing of old friendships, forming of new ones and reminiscing could be heard through the din of 43 voices.

Christmas carols were sung to piano accompaniment, provided by Mrs. Arthur Feldhauser.

Games were in order and each guest received a memento of the occasion. Lunch, in keeping with the holiday season, topped the afternoon festivities.

Transportation was provided for 12 guests. Twenty-six plates of goodies were arranged and delivered to those who were not able to attend.

Co-chairmen, Violet Burns and Theresa Johnson, are very grateful to the many other club members whose time and effort contributed to the success of the party.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to express our sincere thanks to our kind neighbors and friends who assisted with transportation and many other ways while I spent two months as a patient at Munson Medical Center.

Mrs. W. S. Cameron

CARD OF THANKS

I want to thank Dr. Henig, Dr. Blah, the nurses and Father Ivandic while I was sick in Mercy Hospital; also, friends for cards, flowers and visits and the members of the Women's Club.

Jack Pine's Stump

Yep, he's back. After nearly 13 years, Jack Pine and his Stump are going to appear occasionally in the pages of the Avalanche.

People ask me why. In fact, I ask myself. I don't know really, unless it is that the years are passing by awfully fast and old Jack has the feeling that he is being left behind. Writing, for me at least, is a way of catching up - doing your own thing. Besides, people have asked me to revive Jack Pine - and I wonder if I really can. Time will tell. But the fires of Righteous Civic Indignation don't burn quite as furiously as they used to.

— JP —

Jack Pine wrote his "last" column August 21, 1958. He and Avalanche Editor at that time Bob Strong had a disagreement on principles. His was economic and mine were editorial. Nobody won and nobody lost, and we remained good friends. What it was all about was well known to the readers in those days, but is as out of date now as G. Menen Williams (one of my favorite targets in those days).

The Mackinac Bridge had just opened in 1958 and tourists flocked into the state that summer just to cross it. A man named Guy Vanderzagt had gone to work for Channel 13 in Cadillac (Now channel 9) as an announcer. Bob Hayes was manager of the Chamber of Commerce, and the canoes vs fishermen problem was hotly discussed over the coffee cups at Dad Hanson's every morning. Litter in the river, filled most of the downtown outdoor columns then as it does now. Tannic acid being dumped into the river and killing fish was duly reported in this column and picked up by the Alpena News where the same local situation existed.

— JP —

The Russian space successes were a depressing national news item and a popular joke at that time noted that the first thing Americans would find when they landed on the moon was Russians. Women's fashions included such ridiculous creations as The Sack, The Balloon, The Chemise. Men didn't like 'em. Jack Pine had discovered the joys of bowhunting and skiing, and Fred Bear had recently shot his first Grizzly with a bow.

— JP —

Three of the Jack Pine children hadn't been born when the last column appeared. Of the ones around then, I wrote lovingly about the First Communion of a scrubbed, polished and glowing little boy who today is a college senior that likes to argue with me over a glass of beer. He's aged more than I have.

— JP —

Today, Jack Pine no longer lives on the river and doesn't spend an hour or so every day at Dad's drinking coffee. His hair is greying, he wears glasses to read and to type with the same two fingers he's always used. But he still has the same sort of civic pride which he used to have, and delights in being able to say "I'm from Grayling!" He still believes in, and works with, the Chamber of Commerce, and is still upset by those so narrow in their outlook that they can't see just how much the Chamber does for this town - for all of us.

— JP —

Michigan's famed "Water Wonderland" slogan is about to die. The State Highway Department is busy erecting new signs which proclaim this as "The Great Lake State." Being a sort of river-type person myself, I resent being "left out" of the new signs. Oh, yes, attached to the new highway signs is a round disc with a large squawking robin and the words "Land of Hospitality." I kinda liked "Water Wonderland," and felt it said more about Michigan than the new one does. The new slogan looks to me to be simply change-for-the-sake-of-change. That sort of change applies to politicians and underwear, not to a proven promotional slogan.

— JP —

Come next month the voters of the County are going to be asked again to build a new school. It'll be a much different school than the one we voted on last year. No pool. More compact. Cheaper. Already opposition is being heard. Some of it is downright ridiculous. Like the remark I heard last week: "I'm not going to pay any more school taxes. I don't have any kids in school!" I would ask this person, "Who paid for your education, the schools you went to?" Democratic responsibility applies to all. The rights accrue to all. The obligations apply to all. Fire departments, police, water, sewers, Social Security, unemployment, licenses of all kinds and schools. You can't pick and choose. You buy the whole ball of wax or nothing. That's Democracy. And I say to those who speak like this, "If you aren't willing to help improve our schools, then don't complain about the younger generation, the way they look, the way they act or the way they feel towards you - the Establishment. You're asking for trouble, and you're going to get it - doubled in spades. Don't vote against kids who want a decent school - you may want more Social Security in a few years. It can work both ways.

Jack Pine

Babson's 1971 Forecast

rates of personal income, consumers boosted their savings. With the unemployment problem likely to remain a source of concern in much of 1971, the task of reviving consumer confidence will be difficult. We anticipate only moderate gains in consumer spending in the forefront of the year; but strength should become more evident as the year progresses, with 1971 closing out vigorously.

Personal Income

The General Motors strike and layoffs in defense-related lines caused a tapering-off in the upward trend of personal income in the second half of 1970. The stronger trend should be resumed in 1971, but the bulk of the upthrust is expected in the first six months or so with some tapering off during the second half. Fresh wage boosts under new labor pacts signed during the year; automatic step-ups in wage rates under existing multi-year contracts; pay boosts for federal, state, and municipal employees; and upward wage adjustments triggered by cost-of-living escalator provisions will combine to propel personal incomes upward.

Employment Conditions

On the strength of brisk factory operations in the first half of 1971, total employment is expected to post some gains in the new year. But the pinch on profit margins, plus high labor costs, will tend to restrain job expansion. With the natural growth of the population and the retrenchment of U.S. armed forces overseas, the economy may be hard put to absorb all of the growth in the civilian labor pool. Unemployment (close to 6% of the available labor force as 1970 drew to a close seems destined to edge past the 6% mark before relief is encountered.

Taxes

Because of the top priority economic stimulus is slated to receive in 1971, the Babson's Reports staff anticipates little change in personal income tax and corporate profits tax rates at the federal level, but somewhat higher federal levies toward the year end should not be ruled out if inflation gets out of hand. The tax burden will surely be heavier at state and municipal levels, occurring in a wide range of levies including those on incomes, corporate profits, sales and property.

Business Profits and Dividends

Corporate profits after taxes in 1971 are expected to show a better year-in-year comparison than was the case in 1970. We forecast an increase of some 7%. However, the profits outlook will take on its healthier hue primarily because of the comeback from the lean year just past. Nevertheless, businessmen must stay on their toes during the next twelve months, since cost pressures will keep nipping away at profit margins, even though an anticipated higher rate of general business and price mark-ups should give a fillip to earnings. The degree of improvement in profitability could look quite impressive for those companies which turned in poor earnings results in 1970 due to strikes, inventory losses, and changeovers in accounting procedures for the handling of sales and profits not yet earned.

Reflecting the improvement in profits, the outlook for corporate dividend disbursements in 1971 is more promising than in 1970. While a spate of generous dividend rate increases is not anticipated, we do recognize the change for the better in corporate liquidity which, together with improving profits, will encourage management to take a somewhat more liberal view toward dividend payouts.

Further Easing In Credit Conditions

In 1970, monetary authorities expanded the nation's money supply at a rate which seemed somewhat on the generous side. However, some "armchair quarterbacks" feel even that was inadequate to give the economy a real uplift. So the Federal Reserve may well be under pressure to step up its injection of credit into the banking system, particularly since the Nixon Administration will be applying fiscal measures to pump more life into the ailing economy. In this joint effort both participants are on the horns of a dilemma — namely, that the economy must be given added vitality without inflationary pressures being granted free rein. Hence, Federal Reserve authorities undoubtedly will keep a finger on the pulse of consumer and business capital expenditures, while the Administration must watch even more closely the rate of increase in prices and wages. Though price-wage controls now seem politically unacceptable, they should not be ruled out as possibilities if "jawboning" tactics fail.

Since short-term money rates have already receded significantly from the oppressively high levels when the credit crunch was most painful, there is likely to be only a moderate further dip despite the salutary monetary policy and added progress in rebuilding bank liquidity. At the long-term end of the interest rate spectrum, we foresee a paring of borrowing costs also, but it will probably be only slight and not till the latter part of 1971. The degree of easing of long-term money rates will be restrained by the ravens need for capital, not only by the private sector of the economy but also by states, municipalities, the federal government and its various agencies.

The International Scene

International problems evident during much of 1970 will persist in the year ahead. The staff of Babson's Reports visualizes a continued touchy and highly inflammable international climate — with numerous tinderboxes, but no World War III. Instead, there will be stalemates in most 1971 world trouble spots, all having explosive possibilities.

In addition to beefing up the ailing economy, the Nixon Administration can be expected to hew closely to the established "Vietnamization" policy to forestall any further erosion of the GOP's 1972 Presidential hopes. As to other world areas, U.S. foreign policy seems likely to stress persuasion rather than military involvement, in hope that the combatants can amicably resolve thorny issues.

In 1971, the greater danger on the international front may be in the trade and financial sectors. The new Congress will have to tangle with the Trade Bill once again. Because of the likelihood of a massive federal budget deficit — and with the emphasis upon credit-easing measures to move the economy forward — the U.S. balance-of-payments position could once more be in jeopardy. The important European central bankers are renowned for their abhorrence of budget deficits; hence, the American dollar could fall into disfavor again. Such a development could cause another "flight from the dollar" and drain our already grossly inadequate gold reserve. While these dangers are serious and should not be lightly dismissed, we forecast that economic and inflation problems, which are plaguing most of the leading Free World nations as well as the United States, will take enough pressure off the dollar in international currency markets to avert devaluation in 1971.

Bond Market Outlook

The protracted uptrend in money rates resulted in a severely down-trodden bond market during much of 1970. However, toward the end of the year the series of reductions in short-term money rates prompted a vigorous rally in bond prices, particularly in issues bearing near- and intermediate-term maturities. Only sustained brisk demand for long-term capital funds kept prices for long-term bonds from posting commensurate gains.

As 1971 unfolds, prospects favor a continuation of firm-to-higher bond prices. Monetary moves to stimulate the economy should enable money rates to ease a little further. This will be translated into somewhat higher bond prices. Just how much further bond prices will advance will be determined by the degree of aggressiveness which the Administration and the Federal Reserve exhibit in seeking to lift the economy. Also, in the second half, and particularly toward the end of the year, the economy should be on a sufficiently strong footing to create more active demand for short- and long-term credit. This could push interest rates back upward.

Even though the extremely generous yields available on bond investments a few short months ago have been pared, investors who require a solid base of fixed income can still find reasonably rewarding bonds among the intermediate- and long-term bonds. There are also some less-lucrative-yield convertible bonds and preferred stocks which can provide inflation-hedge protection via their conversion privilege.

Stock Market Prospects

Threat of a massive liquidity crisis for debt-laden corporate enterprises, and the shock of the Cambodian invasion, sent stock prices sharply lower during most of the first half of 1970. But when investors realized that monetary policy had shifted convincingly to an anti-recession posture, the stock market rallied sharply from late May until midsummer. There followed a fairly confined trading range until the latter part of November when the lowering of money rates sparked a new flurry of buying which carried the Dow-Jones Industrial Average out of its limited-range consolidation phase.

Even though the stock market has already recouped a good deal of the ground lost since the long decline began in late 1968, participation in the rally has been confined to a fairly small segment of the market. Thus, there is still ample room for the rally to broaden. With the advantage of expansive monetary and fiscal policies, the Babson's Report staff foresees an extension of the late 1970 upthrust. Earnings reports more favorable than those of a year ago will also help to bolster investor confidence in the early months of 1971. Thereafter, worries over the steel industry's labor situation may instill renewed caution.

Overall, the stock market is not likely to experience a sustained upsurge into new high ground in 1971. Limiting forces include the restraint upon corporate profits by cost increases, uneasiness over international developments and labor problems. Hence, there will be spells of uncertainty as regards the stock market in 1971. A plus factor of significance, however, is the still well-deflated position of a majority of stocks.

There continue to be attractive opportunities for investors who have thus far failed to participate in the market recovery, or for those operating under a conservative investment program. In the long-pull growth area, the Babson's Reports staff favors selected issues in the drug and hospital supply, petroleum, utilities, life insurance, and offshore oil and gas industries. Certain undervalued and depressed cyclical issues offer opportunities for capital appreciation, particularly in the building-related home furnishings, food, automotive equipment, precious metals, trucks, and truck transportation fields. But in view of the many areas of uncertainty, emphasis should be placed upon stocks of companies which are well established and capable of achieving profitability in conjunction with the anticipated business betterment.
